

Unlocking the Potential of Female Migrants as Entrepreneurs in the Digital Age

Meet one of the Women who has benefitted from Chameleon

“A chameleon-like 360 vision can be learned, developed. Let’s not only look inward; instead, look out at the big picture, look for ways that we can influence our environments and make bigger impacts ”

Valerie Badilla, CY participant

Which project activities did you participate in and why?

Activity 1 – Pilot for educators to gain program knowledge and refresh my trainer skills

Activity 2 – Pilot for female migrants at Mazi to volunteer as co-trainer/facilitator

Activity 3 – Fem in the Park as an expert to share my observations during the pilot sessions, and my insights into how female migrants can benefit from program

What three things did you like most about your experience?

- Meeting fellow female migrants from different cultures and backgrounds
- Being immersed in the programme allowed me to learn and unlearn things.
- Activity 2 – Seeing mother and daughter participants in the group discuss, brainstorm, even debate, and then coming together in sync and aligned.

What three benefits have you seen as a result of participating in this project?

Experience helped me gained new perspectives on being a female migrant, in Cyprus

- Gained new friends and ways to help in CSI activities and projects; widened my network.
- Programme inspired me to promote Chameleon MOOC to Education Entrepreneurs during the Philippine StartUp Week 2022 Conference.
