

Chameleon

Unlocking the Potential of Female Migrants as Entrepreneurs in the Digital Age

We are Human Beings and as such need to 'Be together'

April 2022

Finally, Chameleon Erasmus+ project partners were able to meet up in Portugal. All partners commented on how meeting in person added much more depth and richness to relationships and meeting in person helped us to progress project tasks. Our experience of being together reminded us that humans need to be together if we are to form strong bonds and develop a community. Therefore, we felt that as part of the Chameleon project it was vital to have a face-to-face element to our education package. This is especially important for migrant women who are often isolated and will stay close to home. Travelling away from home to attend a face-to-face training session will be invaluable in helping them to develop a network that supports them both socially and professionally. Look out for our social media posts as we move towards piloting our project and if you are migrant woman reading this – get in touch with us now to find out how you can be benefit from Chameleon.

Why is this project important?

Migrant women face many hurdles in accessing education, training, and business start-up services. This means that, across Europe, migrant women are not well represented in the economic landscape. The Chameleon project aims to address this problem. As this is an Erasmus+ European funded project the resources will be available for free and soon we will be asking for volunteers to help us pilot our programme.
